THE BOOK OF ACTS – LESSON 28 Chapter Twenty-Five, Continued

- Agrippa (V22-23) “Then _____ said unto _____, I would also _____ the man _____.” This king’s father had killed James and tried to kill Peter before being eaten by worms. It seems natural he would be curious about the great leaders of “this way.” Festus said, “Thou shalt hear him. And on the _____, when Agrippa was _____, and Bernice, with great _____, and was entered into the _____ of _____, with the _____ captains, and _____ men of the city, at Festus’ commandment _____ was _____ forth.” This was not a normal trial, rather a hearing. The trial would be in Rome.
- Festus Explains (V24-27) “And Festus said---ye _____ this man, about whom _____ the multitude of the _____ have dealt with me, _____ at _____, and also here, crying that he _____ to _____ any longer.” He stated, “But when I _____ that he had committed nothing _____ of _____, and that he himself hath _____ to _____, I have determined to _____.” Festus says that none of the charges had been substantiated and that “I have no certain thing to write unto my lord” so “I have brought him _____ before _____, and _____ before thee, O king Agrippa, that, after _____ had, I might have _____ to _____.” He adds, “For it _____ to me _____ to send a prisoner, and not withal to _____ the _____ laid _____ him.”

Chapter Twenty-Six

- Paul Answers Agrippa (V1-3) Agrippa told Paul, “Thou art _____ to _____ for thyself.” Paul, as always, was glad to respond, not just with purpose to explain himself, but also to preach Christ. His statement, “I think myself _____, king Agrippa, because I shall _____ for _____ this day before thee” indicated he appreciated the opportunity to have this king, an “_____ in all _____ and _____ which are among the _____” for an audience. He implored, “I beseech thee to _____ me _____.”
- Paul Fills Him In (V4-7) He begins by stating that “all the _____” know “my _____ of life from my _____” and “if they would _____” they could tell you “that after the most straitest _____ of our _____ I lived a _____.” He states that “I am _____ of the Jews” for “the _____ of the _____ made of God unto our _____, unto which promise our _____, instantly serving God day and night, _____ to _____.”
- Is The Resurrection Incredible? (V8-9) Paul knew Agrippa had strong belief in God the Father and appeals to this belief in God’s omnipotence. Paul admits that he had denied the Son: “I verily _____ with _____, that I ought to do _____ things _____ to the name of _____ of Nazareth.” He introduces the fact that he was originally wrong about Jesus.
